Chapter 1 by Trin

Once upon... wait no. That's not how it's supposed to go. This is real life, not a fiction waiting to be told. There was a girl, so lost, confused, horrified, scared. That girl was me. All I ever did was care about everyone I knew and ever cared about. The one person I cared about the most was this guy I dated. I can't get over him. I love him. I can't do anything to stop it. Her name was Tammy. All I ever did was show him all the love I could give him, but all he wanted was my bestfriend, Kelly. We have been friends for 3 years and more to come, well I hope anyway. All I wanted was to live a perfect life with the boy I thought was perfect while everyone else thought different and so many bad things about him. He's the only guy I ever tell anything too anymore. I can't go a day without talking to him or a minute without thinking about him. Kelly wants to stop being friends with me because all I ever do is talk about him. Literally I can't get him off my mind no matter how hard I try. People are starting rumors about me and him and we've been broken up for weeks. It hasn't even been a month yet. I miss him so much. I send him really long messages. They take me hours to type and I type 76 words per minute. Sometimes all I wanna do is be with him and no one else. I wish it was just me and him in part of the world by ourselves. He tells me he loves me and stuff but sometimes I don't believe it because I just feel like it's not true. I don't believe it sometimes because I have never cried over someone so much or ever had a guy cry over me before. I love him. If I ever lost him, I would be lost for ever.

Or am I lost forever. It happened so fast. I lost the sense of time.

But I know it has been long. Too long for this to be normal. When ever seeing your ex boyfriend be mutilated. It was hard, still is. And it hasn't become easier either. Most of my friends have left me. One by one they got enough, grew tired or simply walked away. Even Kelly is wavering. Although it isn't strange. I don't know how long she has put up with me. Probably years. It's time for change.
